

Bunbury Mill

Bunbury Mill to appear on the Telly again!

In June 2017 the BBC's Bargain Hunt team visited Bunbury Mill and spent a pleasant morning filming our historic mill and grounds. Presenter Eric Knowles was shown around the mill, and discussed the history of Bunbury Mill and milling in general with our volunteer miller Peter Robinson.

The resulting film will form an interlude between the Bargain Hunt buying and the auction, which took place the following day at Peter Wilson's auction rooms in Nantwich.

The programme BARGAIN HUNT DAYTIME SERIES 48 - 'Anglesey 15' will be shown on BBC1 at 12:15 on Monday 20th November 2017.

It can also be seen on iPlayer for 7 days after transmission if you miss it, or just want to watch it again!

We are grateful to the BBC for choosing to feature our lovely mill - built in early Victorian times, and still producing fine flour. Go to our web site for information - www.bunburymill.com

The mill is now closed for maintenance work during the winter - watch our web site for further information. Meanwhile, here is an opportunity to pay us a visit and see the mill working from your armchair!
